Butterfly Festival Promotes Child Abuse Prevention

(Menasha, Wis.) – Parent Connection, a program of Family Services, will be hosting its 3rd Annual Butterfly Festival on Saturday, June 18 to support child abuse prevention efforts in the Fox Cities. This family fun event will be held at City Park in downtown Appleton, opening at 9:00 am with registration and light breakfast foods. Other activities include face painting and crafts, kids’ games and entertainment, and butterfly demonstrations by Mosquito Hill Nature Center. In the spirit of “Helping Families Fly”, the event will close with a group release of over 400 butterflies at 10:45 am.

“Parent Connection supports hundreds of Fox Cities families each year, providing family education and promoting positive parenting,” says event organizer and volunteer Susanne Lumsden. “Proceeds from this event will help the program continue their important work in this community, helping to give our kids the best start possible.”

A family registration of $10 includes all activities and one butterfly per family. Additional butterflies can be purchased for $10 each. Advanced registration is available online at www.familyservicesnew.org or you can register at the event.
